"This is a great honor. We have seen a tremendous growth of QuoteWerks users in the MSP community over the last several years and in particular 2010," said Brian Laufer, VP of Operations at Aspire Technologies, Inc., "We are continuing to work closely with individual communities like ConnectWise and other PSAs to promote streamlined quoting and proposal solutions to ensure MSP professionals create professional and accurate presentations to their clients."

"MSPmentor congratulates both Brian Laufer and John Lewe and all of the experts identified within the MSPmentor 250 report," said Amy Katz, CEO of Nine Lives Media Inc. "We hope the MSPmentor 250 serves as a global Rolodex that allows MSP industry leaders to quickly network with one another."

The third-annual MSPmentor 250 report is based on a global survey of MSPmentor readers, conducted from May through July 23, 2010. The resulting report represents MSP experts in North America, Europe, Australia and emerging managed services markets across the globe.

MSPmentor and its readership are uniquely positioned to identify the world's top managed services experts. Ranked among the world's top 100,000 Web sites according to Alexa.com, MSPmentor is the world's leading managed services blog and community – and the ultimate guide to managed services.
